Personal Reinvention Architect

"Typically, I work with professionals working in business development, creative industries and hospitality who may feel a bit off track and looking for something that can take them back to their life or even on a higher level. They may want to be more visible at work and at home to get the recognition they deserve. Or they may want more time to pursue their dreams and figure out a plan of action to start their own business.

Together with my clients, we build new life blueprints to construct a life consistent with their personal values."
