Canon Close to Releasing PowerShot Camera Powered by AI: Report

JAN 20, 2021

6 COMMENTS

Canon has publicly stated that it plans to put notable effort behind specialized cameras as it prepares for the future of the digital camera industry. Therefore, this latest rumor of a PowerShot camera driven by AI would make a lot of sense.

The camera could be fully automated and take pictures, automatically monitor an environment and capture images of what it sees based on the faces that it can recognize.

The idea is that instead of having to rely on a person to take photos of memorable events, just setting and forgetting this little AI-powered camera would allow everyone to enjoy an event without the burden of being the photographer.
